

DEAR FCC,Hi my name is Jason Edmunds and I am a current Voom satellite subscriber. I am deeply concerned about the sale of Voom assets to Echostar when Charles Dolan has said he is willing and able to purchase Voom from Cablevision. If you allow the sale to Echostar there will once again be only two choices for satellite service and this will help the monopoly that Dish Network and Direct TV have had previous to Voom entering the market. I have subscribed to all three providers and Voom offers the best programming for the money. So I urge you to stop Echostar from being able to complete this transaction and help keep companies fair to the American consumer. Please let us have options when it comes to choosing a satellite provider.

Do you Yahoo!?

Yahoo! Mail - Find what you need with new enhanced search.
http://info.mail.yahoo.com/mail_250